

BASEBALL CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE

The rain water that collects in an abandoned barrel will eventually fill the barrel unless somebody comes along and turns it upside down. While the drops are small as they descend they are numerous, and, at length, there is plenty of water, up the capacity of the barrel.

The above is plain and no one will dispute the facts. Cameron is a barrel, upturned to the economic sky, where current coin is like rain, falling to the ground of commerce in little drops of trade.

The money that falls into this barrel is captured for the benefit of the citizens of Cameron because in the course of business the contents of the barrel are distributed among us, and is used again.

A barrel of rainwater comes in handy sometimes in case of fire. No one would credit a man with wisdom if, while his barn was burning instead of running to a reservoir, filling his bucket and running to throw it on the fire, he ran into the woods and threw the water into the creek that flows away from his home.

Cameron is not exactly on fire but its very economic life depends upon the money that is stored within it. Wise citizens see that their coin stays home. Foolish citizens, very often without thinking, send their money into the surrounding woods, where big city timber men use it to build up their city.

The next time you have a difference of opinion with your neighbor and begin to think he is about the craziest prospect that you have ever run across, stop long enough to think about the natives of the Kaja Kaja region in Dutch New Guinea, where the prevailing opinion is that countries which do not produce coconuts and rice are not worth living in.

These ignorant people are happy in the belief that they have a marvelous country, which produces both. The natives pay tribute to the Dutch in coconuts and wonder what the Queen does with so many nuts. Their prevailing idea is that she uses them to buy human heads, which is their idea of real treasure.

It is barely possible that these people are happy. If they are they have the advantage over many better informed citizens who worry themselves greatly over keeping up appearances. Civilization and intelligence, with wealth and industry, bring to men and women the very best possible opportunity for real happiness.

The security that mankind demands for its wealth has brought security of life and limb. As property becomes greater in a given community there follows decided improvements in living conditions. That is the main justification for private property regardless of what may be said by the socialists and others.

Application of Grady Little To Build Ice Plant In Cameron Drawing Comment From Mark Sullivan In New York Paper

National attention has been directed to the case of Grady Little, Cameron applicant for a permit to construct an ice factory. Mark Sullivan, noted Washington correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune, in his paper of Wednesday March 13, takes up the case of Mr. Little and directs new criticism at the NRA. The case, he says, is typical of monopolies growing up under NRA and goes to some length to discuss the routine and red tape to which the Cameron man has been subjected in his plan to engage in business here.

On December 6, 1934, Mr. Little applied to NRA for the privilege of constructing a 20 ton a day ice plant in Cameron. On December 28 Mr. Little received from NRA a form questionnaire, says Mr. Sullivan, to fill out showing reasons why he could build up a business. On January 3 Mr. Little was informed of a hearing to be held on January 10 in Dallas. The original application covered 5 pages.

After the original application had been filed there came another form larger than the first to be filled out

Nation's Newspapers Get Credit For Birthday Ball Successes

To American editors and publishers goes the lion's share of credit for the success of the 1935 Birthday Ball for the President. Mrs. J. P. Love who won the first annual citizenship award of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman for Milam county where newspaper publishers assisted. In New York business men held a $1000 plate banquet.

PRISON WALLS GET PAIR WHO CONFESS CRIMES

Albert (Tough Boy) Brooker, who escaped jail here some weeks ago and recaptured near Marlin, was given 20 years in the walls at Huntsville Tuesday when he entered a plea of guilty. His companion Jack Watkins, who refused to leave the jail on the night of the delivery, got 16 years on a plea of guilty.

Sheriff Max Kennedy and Deputy Keith Blankenship of Buckholts, delivered the men to prison.

Brooker and Watkins were charged with a series of robberies and burglaries in which a number of private residences, garages and stores were entered and automobiles stolen.

Brooker pleaded guilty to nine cases of burglary and felony theft in district court Monday, and his punishment assessed at twenty years in the penitentiary. This term includes his first case here in February when he was tried for burglarizing the home of Fritz Doss near Rockdale and given two years, and for the stealing of a Ford V-8 from the garage of Jim Coleman on the night of February 17, to make a get away, after he and a negro, Robert Franklin made an escape from the Cameron jail. Brooker was caught by Marlin officers the following day, but the negro eluded the officers and is still at large.

Watkins pleaded guilty in district court on Monday to his eight cases of burglary and felony theft. He was taken to the penitentiary under a 16 year term. He was also tried for burglarizing of the Fritz Doss home and got three years. He and Brooker both received "not guilty" verdicts in their second cases, each tried for stealing blankets from the garage of Penn Wolf, district clerk in this city.

JOE BASS CANDIDATE FOR ALDEMURAN HERE

Alderman Joe D. Bass appreciates the words of faith expressed by his friends, and at this time, he announces that he will be a candidate for re-election to the place he now fills in the City government.

Mr. Bass is vitally interested in the upbuilding of Cameron, and that goal has been his in both private and political life. As Alderman he has been on the vigil to safeguard the financial conditions of the City of Cameron, and at the same time he has been interested in seeing to it that every dollar spent was in the interest of Cameron.

His friends point out that he has been very successful Alderman and that he was greatly responsible for the building of Wilson Ledbetter (See JOE BASS on page 6)

Temple Liquor Men Get Break; Allowed To Sell Out Stock

Temple licensed liquor dealers were given a break by officials in that city when Chief of Police B. G. Duncan gave them an opportunity to close out their stocks in which they had invested their money in addition to the payment of license fees, chief among them being the $1000 excise tax.

Licensed dealers in Milam county did not get as good treatment. On the other hand their stocks were confiscated and they themselves arrested without opportunity to make disposition of tax paid goods. Raids were made before the Grand Jury had begun its work. Papers, warrants, etc., were delivered in folded package to the sheriff and constables who were told to bring in the goods and the men.

All have been indicted. Jack Owings of Cameron drew the heaviest grand jury accusation with four bills. It was the first time he had ever been arrested nor had he ever paid so much as a simple fine.

W C TODD IS MADE COLONEL BY ALLRED

W. C. Todd, former Cameron resident, has been named a Lieutenant Colonel on the staff of Governor Allred. He was born and reared in Cameron, now a resident of Beaumont. The following is taken from the Beaumont Journal:

W. C. (Jack) Todd, manager of the Brown Cracker and Candy Company here and director of the Allred campaign for Governor in the district in 1934, was honored Monday when he was appointed a lieutenant-colonel on the governor's staff by Gov. James V. Allred.

The newest member of the governor's staff has been a loyal supporter of Governor Allred for years and had known him in Wichita Falls before coming to Beaumont.

During the several visits of Gov. Allred to this section Todd has always been the man to introduce him. The visit Gov. Allred made to this city in the interest of his campaign was for opening of the baseball season here last year. When he was introduced by Todd before more than (See TODD on page 6)

Baseball will stage a comeback this year and the Cameron Comets are to be marshaled for places in the Temple and Waco cup races.

Henderson Walker, Comet outfielder and star player, was named manager at a meeting held in District Court Room Wednesday night. Leland Stedman was named reporter, and Bill Balhorn was elected secretary and treasurer.

The immediate goal is to rebuild the park fence and to make repairs on the grand stand.

Players from the rural communities are invited by Manager Walker to come and work out with the Comets and make the team. Fans are happy over the prospect of a team this year and Manager Walker was said to have many good prospects. Schedules will be announced soon. It was said that the Knights of Columbus were planning a team in Cameron.

Cameron Ice & Cold Storage Company are glad to announce that R. C. Boswell of DeLeon, Texas, was awarded the first air-conditioned refrigerator in the Texas Ice Carnival of the Air Contest.

The ice industry of Texas is presenting a sparkling, new program of radio entertainment over the Texas Quality Group, each Thursday evening at 6 o'clock.

"The smallest initial and lowest operating costs; the best conditioned air possible; continued, low even temperature; freedom from food taints; an abundance of pure ice; proper air humidity and uninterrupted service make ice refrigeration the best form of refrigeration known to man."

New Decisions On Marble Machines

New decisions affecting marble machines have been rendered by J. W. Mills in Harris county court. The judge has held that the marble machines are a game of skill and do not come under the law governing lotteries.

The case of the State of Texas vs. J. R. Birdwell in the county court at law and the decision was rendered on February 15th.

Recently the attorney general of Texas held that these machines are games of skill. Considerable agitation has been prevalent in the state, especially so during recent days with state rangers raiding in many sections.

NEW BUSINESS

Miss Gertrude Burstin of Dallas has come to Cameron to make her home and will conduct the Gertrude Millinery Shop.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD HERE FOR SAM S. HEFLEY

Funeral services for Sam Hefley, 64, were held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon March 15, 1934 at the family residence in Cameron. He died on Thursday afternoon at 3:53 March 14th after an illness of more than a year.

Since early January Mr. Hefley had been in bed. His condition grew steadily worse. The end came peacefully Thursday afternoon with members of the family at his bedside. Although no hope had been held for his recovery, his death came as a shock and brought universal sorrow to the people of Cameron where he had lived for more than half a century.

Samuel Swain Hefley was born on January 25, 1871, and was 64 years, 1 month and 15 days of age. He was born in Lexington, Tennessee, the son of Samuel and Tennessee Hefley, early American pioneers. He came to Cameron as a lad of about 8 years, and had lived here continuously.

For eight years he was a member of the Legislature from Milam county, was the father of the motion picture industry in Cameron, served as Mayor and at one time engaged in business that commanded large interests in other parts of Texas.

In a tribute that was both touching and typical of his life and loyalties, Rev. O. C. Acree, of the first Presbyterian Church, led the funeral services at the home. Rev. J. Coy Williams of the First Methodist Church, assisted. To the devoted widow, Mrs. Lola Cass Hefley, for her care and attention, the funeral sermon was especially commendatory. Interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Due to the interesting life story of Mr. Hefley and the lack of time (See SAM HEFLEY on page 12)

Louisa's Letter

TWO LETTERS TO LOUISA ARE ANSWERED

My Dear Louisa:

I am engaged to a fine young man whom I expect to marry this summer. There is only one thing that makes me hesitate. I disperse his family. There is not one single member of it whom I care for. But I am not marrying his family and I don't see why I should be bothered with them after I am married, if I don't like them, do you?

MABLE B.

Answer:—

You are certainly hunting trouble if you begin your matrimonial career with such an attitude to your in-laws. It is sometimes quite a task to get along with a husband's or wife's people when one uses all the tact and affability at one's command. But to begin by saying that you dislike your husband's people and do not intend to have anything to do with them seems to me a direct road to trouble and unhappiness.

By the way, do you really love this man you intend to marry? Do you care whether he is made unhappy or not? You did not say so but I presume that he loves his own family and enjoys being with them. Do you expect to pull up all the love he has for them by the roots, so to speak, and keep him away from them?

If you succeed in separating him from his family, he will never forgive you for it. You will be loser instead of gainer. It seems to me that your attitude on this matter is a very selfish one and I'd advise you to begin thinking of other people's happiness as well as your own.

Yours,

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

My only son is planning to be married in a few weeks. I have tried to make him understand how I feel about it but he just won't. My son and I have been everything to each other since his father died. I have just devoted my life to him and now when I probably shall be here only a few more years he is planning to leave me for this girl. Don't you agree with me that he might give her up until after I'm gone?

DEVOTED MOTHER.

Answer:

I think that you would sign your letter more appropriately as Super-Selfish Mother rather than Devoted. It is such mothers as you who rob their children of the normal companionship and happiness of marriage and leave behind them lonely old

Texas Pioneer Days Recalled By Oak Hill Woman Now 74

By JOHNNIE BROWN

Mrs. Mary Hutcherson, 74-year-old Milam county pioneer, an aunt of John C. Mayfield of Cameron and Jim Eads of Rockdale, lives in the Oak Hill community, eight miles south of Rockdale. Being a native Missourian, Mrs. Hutcherson had to be shown that Texas wasn't the best place in the world to live.

In the early seventies, when Texas was a spacious wilderness thinly settled with now and then a cow trail spanning the hillsides, this pioneer came with her family from Missouri the state of her birth, and settled in Milam county. The trip here in a wagon required an entire month.

Unlike most Missourians, Mrs. Hutcherson lost confidence in her native state. She says: "Back in Missouri things were not so rosy" during the Civil War days. All of my father's horses were taken by the army for use on the battlefields and he had to pay 50c a day for the use of oxen to carry on farm work during the war."

Texas "in the making" was a terrible experience for early pioneer settlers, according to this pioneer lady. The lumber with which early residence houses were erected was hauled by ox-wagon freight from Brenham. Her uncle, Jim Harris, hauled the entire supply of salt for that community from Houston in an ox wagon once each year. All groceries for that early settlement were hauled by ox wagon from Houston or other points in that region and for this reason farmers went to town only about four times each year.

This well known pioneer, now in the seventies, hasn't a gray hair in her head and is still able to milk the cows, feed the chickens and do her own cooking.

She has a wonderful recollection of early days, though her education acquired in a little log school house where no courses were taught save "readin' writin' and 'rithmetic," is limited.

She lives on the same farm that her family bought for $1.50 an acre when she first came to Texas.

Though she is from Missouri and "had to be shown" Mrs. Hutcherson is well pleased with her Texas home.

maids and bachelors and single daughters to face life alone in their old age. You married and left your mother, didn't you? Well, what right have you to deny your own child the same privilege?

Did you ever happen to think that it will mean more happiness not only to him but to you in the end. Think of the enjoyment you will have with your grandchildren and your daughter-in-law. If you welcome her into your family and make an honest effort to gain her love, instead of losing your son you will gain a daughter.

Try to look at your problem in an unselfish light and I am sure you will become reconciled to your son's marriage.

Yours,
LOUISA

Decline In Farm Owners Shown In Milam County

Farm owners in Milam county have decreased 322 since 1920, according to figures leased by the Texas Tax Journal at Austin, John W. Smith, editor.

In 1920 there were 1522 farm owners and 3821 tenants and in 1930 there were 1200 farm owners and 3996 tenants, a decline of 322 farm owners and an increase of 175 in the number of tenants.

Mr. Smith points out that there are $160,000,000 in delinquent taxes because farm property cannot continue to pay $50,000,000 a year and survive low commodity prices.

1. "I must have attractive things in my kitchen and I found a surprising beauty of design and color in the modern 1935 Gas Ranges."

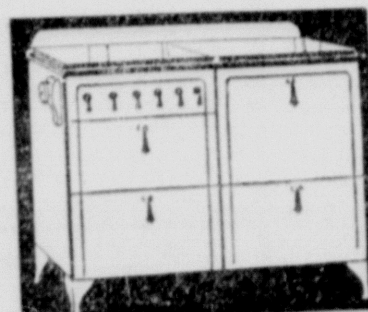

2. "We've learned our lesson on economy . . . and so . . . to us . . . it is important that I cook with natural gas for about one-third of a cent, per person, per meal."

3. "So many times I am obliged to get a hot meal . . . breakfast, for instance . . . in a hurry. I can cook faster on the new 1935 gas ranges."

4. "The insulation on the new gas ranges appeals to me a lot. It keeps the heat in the oven and out of the kitchen . . . saves gas, too."

5. "And then, there are so many automatic features in the new 1935 gas ranges such as automatic oven heat control and self-lighting which save me time."

6. "The easy terms helped me to buy one . . . I was given a liberal trade-in allowance on my old range and am paying for my new one a little bit each month . . . so little I hardly miss it."

Washington News For Milam County Farmers

From Cameron Herald's Washington Bureau

TO PASS ON FARM ACT

HOMESTEADS IN ALASKA

TO AID TENANTS TO BUY

FEWER FARMS IN DISTRESS

CHURCH GROUP ATTACKS

THE TARIFF QUESTION

The United States Supreme Court will soon have to pass on the constitutionality of the highly controversial Frazier-Lempke mortgage moratorium law. Already five Federal district judges have upheld the law, while two have ruled against it. One Circuit Court of Appeals has also maintained its validity. The law virtually gives to a farmer, unable to reach an agreement with his mortgage-holding creditors, a virtual five year moratorium.

Two hundred families and 400 unmarried laborers will soon revive pioneer days, but their land clearing and home building will be done in Alaska.

The first contingent will sail from Seattle in May for the Mantanuska Valley, under the northern lights. Landing at Seward, the settlers will proceed to Anchorage, fifty miles from the valley. The summer will be devoted to clearing the forty-acre homestead tracts allotted each family, building and preparing for the first crop next spring.

The settlers will be taken from the drought stricken areas of the Northwest, where the climate is somewhat similar to that in the valley, where 8000 acres of public land will be staked out.

Giving his unqualified endorsement to the Bankhead Bill, which will lend $1,000,000,000 to tenant farmers with which to buy land, Secretary Wallace said it should be a substantial aid to the broad national recovery program.

The measure would set up a government corporation, to issue one billion dollars in bonds to provide funds to purchase farms for renters and share-croppers. Mr. Wallace pointing out that present conditions invited agitation and social unrest, said that the cure is in giving the dispossessed people a stake in the social system.

The Farm Credit Administration reports that the number of farmers threatened with foreclosure in the last half of 1934 was only about one third of those in distress in the first six months of the past year. Requests for aid in refinancing farm mortgages dropped from 22,667 in the first half of the year to 8,314 in the latter half.

An attack upon the agricultural policies of the new deal was released last week by the Methodist Federation for Social Service, which maintained that they "have swept the farmer headlong into debt."

The federation, a voluble critic of the administration, says whole areas of farmers are barely subsisting and that there has been an increase in the mortgage debt load. The government, in the words of the report "is gambling on recovery's enabling the farmers to carry and pay off this debt load."

The AAA is aiding wealthy farmers, says the federation, but agricultural workers in general are not getting a decent living. However, in concluding the report said that apparently farmers are willing to give President Roosevelt a while longer to make good his promises.

The argument for processing taxes, a form of farm subsidy, is that industry has been protected by the tariff and that agriculture had to have parity or perish. How close the farmers of the nation came to oblivion only the farmers themselves know because most of the rest of the country was too busy seeking its own interests to take a look into the farm areas as long as the national economy did not collapse.

Now, farmers might as well ponder what step will be available if the farm subsidy program fails to achieve all that is sought. They might as well study the tariff and make up their minds. It is an issue that looms before the nation!

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of three articles explaining some of the important provisions of the 1934 income tax law, as they apply to readers of The Cameron Herald.

Where we have in many cases been claiming a deduction for depreciation in a more or less haphazard and unsystematic manner in the past, we are now required to furnish full information in claiming this deduction which must include:

Date the asset was acquired.
Cost.
Depreciation claimed on sustained for prior years.
Remaining balance to be claimed in future years.
Estimated remaining life of asset.
Estimated rate of depreciation to recover balance of cost.

The 1934 Income Tax Law

The many rates of depreciation have been generally reduced as compared with amounts allowed in previous years—Frame buildings from 4 and 5 to 3 per cent, brick buildings from 2 1-2 and 3 to 2 per cent, furnishings and fixtures from 10 to around 7 per cent and many others.

About 65 million dollars additional revenue is estimated from these changes.

Items charged off as bad debts must be fully listed and explained, and any of long standing, or which apparently should have been charged off in prior years, will not be allowed except for good reason. The law says bad debts to be allowed must be charged off in the year they are found to be worthless, and it is expected that every taxpayer will make proper effort to determine these facts in accordance with sound business methods.

Those taxpayers whose returns for the past several years have shown net losses with very few or no bad debts charged off, and who now begin to show signs of taxable income with large amounts of bad debts may expect to be called on for full explanation of each item.

Salaries paid to all corporation officers and stockholders, and especially in so-called closed corporations, must be reasonable, that is they must be in keeping with the salaries paid by similar corporations for similar services, and in proportion to the service rendered.

Yes, there's quite an uproar over our G-3 advertising. People who got the first G-3's put out—months before the public announcement—say "you're pulling your punch"—cite mileage records to prove 43% more non-skid life is an understatement. Very likely it is low—very likely the G-3 does do better—but, by speeding up to 50, jamming on brakes, every few miles day and night, in harder driving than most people do, the Goodyear test fleet established the average of 43% greater non-skid wear—and we'll stick to that figure because: That much extra safety at no extra cost is plenty to offer. Legislature at a Glance

By Senator Bob Poage

After a bitter battle in the House the $3,000,000 Centennial Bill was passed with a number of amendments. The measure received more than a two-thirds vote in the House and hence will become effective immediately if it receives a like vote in the Senate. The Senate Finance Committee met this afternoon and favorably reported the bill with amendments. It is expected that the Senate will pass the measure at an early date. It is my belief and hope that the bill will leave the selection of the subsidiary exhibitions to the Centennial Commission. The bill only allots $1,000,000 to Dallas and proposes to expend the remainder of the money on advertising and local celebrations over the State. Last fall the Legislature undertook to select the site of every subsidiary activity. This inevitably results in log-rolling and trading. I hope this will be avoided this time.

The liquor question was settled insofar as the Senate is concerned by the passage of a plan submitting repeal of the State constitutional prohibition against liquor. The plan finally adopted by the Senate permits an unrestricted sale of wines and beer subject to regulation by the Legislature. Sale of hard liquors can only be made in unbroken packages. This will allow hotels, cafes, etc. to serve champagne, wine, beer and the like with meals, but will not allow any return of the old saloon.

Senator Tom DeBerry's joint resolution for the submission to the voters of a constitutional amendment abolishing the fee system for county officers in counties above 20,000 population and making it optional in counties under 20,000, was adopted by the Senate. I consider this one of the most important matters that came before the people. Since I have been a member of the Legislature, I believe we have submitted an amendment to abolish the fee system at least three times. Each time it has been defeated and we have always had the complaint that the people defeated it in order to kill some other amendment. I do not know why it was defeated. I personally think that the fee system has been the cause of a world of graft, corruption, etc., in Texas, and that it is unfair both to the public and the officers. I hope this amendment is adopted.

The Senate also voted to submit Senator Moore's amendments to increase the salary of the Governor to $12,000, the Attorney General to $10,000, and the Comptroller, Treasurer and Land Commissioner to $6,000, and defeated his amendment to increase the salary of the Secretary of the State to $6,000. I voted for the amendment to increase the Governor's salary, but against the increase of the Attorney General, because I think it is not necessary to pay him this much, as he always figures that after retiring from this office he can make good money in the private practice. I voted against the $6,000 salary for the Secretary of State because he is an appointive officer, has no campaign expenses and can afford to hold this office for less.

The Senate also voted to submit and I voted for the amendment by Senator Sulak to provide free text books for children of school age in all schools. There are several other constitutional amendments pending and as soon as they are disposed of, the eighteen remedial bills prepared by the Senate Crime Committee, of which I am a member, are set for consideration as special orders. These bills taken together seek to stop up a number of loop holes existing in our criminal laws.

The Senate on Friday refused to set as a special order the Drivers' License Bill, which I introduced. It requires a two-thirds vote to set a special order, and I lacked only one vote of getting the two-thirds. I feel that this indicates a strong majority in the Senate for the bill. I trust that it will be passed if we can ever reach it.

While there is still a month and a half of this session, it is very evident that hundreds of bills are going to die on the calendar, because of lack of time to reach them. We are still holding committee hearings with great regularity and these hearings are of vital importance. They take time and yet we cannot attend committee hearings and sessions of the Senate at the same time. I have had three hearings this afternoon and have one tonight. People from all over the state come to give their views at these hearings, and it sometimes seems that all of those who do not come write. I often wish I had 72 hours a day in which to attend to the matters before us and to reply to the correspondence and calls that I have. I do not know what the solution is, but I do know that the Legislature is busy all the time and at that it will be impossible to complete anything like all of the work of the session.

The Answer "Nothing."

What is the effect of the gold clause decision of the United States Supreme Court upon the people of Cameron?

The answer is: "Practically Nothing."

What is its effect upon those who loaned the government money during the World War, taking for the cash the bonds of the government?

The answer is that the bond holders will be paid in dollars, each of which will buy twice as much as when the money was loaned to the government.

Not Arming for Fun

The business of an intelligent newspaper is to keep its readers advised as to what is going on. The Herald attempts to do so within the limitation that naturally afflict a publication of its class.

The business of an editorial, if we understand it, is to point out significant relations which might be missed by one who scans the daily and weekly news reports as they flash before the eye during a busy day.

With that in mind, we hasten to advise our readers that the nations of the world are arming themselves feverishly for war. In 1913, the year before the world war broke out, the combined military expenses of the leading powers was $2,900,000,000. In 1933, the figures are $5,598,000,000. For the United States the comparison is $244,000,000 for 1913 against $533,000,000 for 1933. For Japan, $104,000,000 against $505,000,000.

Punishing an Editor

The other day a subscriber to a newspaper, in a neighboring town, stopped the paper because he didn't like something the editor said.

That is what editors would call "hot news" because it has happened before; but the day has long passed when the average editor expects people to agree with him. He sometimes believes that the people of his community have too much sense to believe that they hurt him by such action.

As far as the editor of the Herald is concerned the people are cordially welcome to their beliefs. While the editor of this newspaper will express his own ideas he merely does so for whatever they may have with those who read them. Those who disagree are entitled to their own opinions, which may be far wiser than ours, but inasmuch as we are putting up the cash to issue this vehicle of intelligence the dissenters must not expect us to propagate their views to the exclusion of our honest convictions.

Can You Locate Them?

The other day we looked on an atlas for Hokota and Taiwan, where the Tokyo specialists insist the Japanese empire should be allowed to install appropriate fortifications to carry out a policy that they proclaim is aimed at peace in the Orient.

We found Taiwan, with Formosa in parentheses but it wasn't as easy to locate Hokota, although we knew it was close by. The nearest we could get was the Pescadores until we found out that the names were for the same island.

This double name business probably worrying some of the students in Milam county. It is so in many cases. For example, can you locate off-hand Iran, Misr, El Moghreb, Iraq, Anvers, Wien, Moskva, Damas, Firenze, or Baile Atha Cliath? If not, they are, in order, Persia, Egypt, Morocco, Mesopotamia, Antwerp, Vienna, Moscow, Damascus, Florence and Dublin.

Political Independence Needed.

While The Herald believes in the party system of government, as it exists in the United States, we do not think that any citizen should be so hidebound into his party that he fails to recognize the good that comes from other people or the danger that both of the large parties may be dominated by the same forces.

For that reason, we advise all our readers to adopt a more or less independent attitude in thinking about all national problems. The eternal welfare of the republic depends upon the freedom of thought and not upon fidelity to party lines. When the day comes that there exists in this nation only the partisan members of the two great parties then the early end of this republican government is apparent.

The average citizen may not fancy international politics, for example, but if he expects to be worthy of the ballot he should make it his business to understand something about what is happening in the world. He should if he expects democracy to succeed, become interested in the matters that affect the United States of America and in that attitude which his nation adopts to the other peoples of the world.

PRODUCTION OF QUALITY CUCUMBERS

Cucumbers should be planted early to avoid summer drouth. Plant 5 or 6 seed per hill, 1 inch deep in 6 foot squares; mulch top of hill with manure. Thin plants to 2 per hill and cultivate when they are approximately 10 inches high. Harvest every day to have a bountiful yield. A good variety for sweet or sour, or brined pickles is the Chicago pickling Cucumber. These are a few of the facts given by Miss Bertha Faye Strange, County Home Demonstration Agent at the Bryant Station H. D. Club on Thursday March 14, in the home of Mrs. G. H. Bechhausen. There were 10 members present.

The AAA will be the subject for discussion March 28th, with Mrs. C. F. Martin as hostess.

Black-Draught Brings

Refreshing Relief of

Constipation Troubles

Constipation produces many disagreeable sensations, several of which are mentioned by Mr. T. E. Stith, of Boonville, Ind., who writes: "I have used Thedford's Black-Draught many years when needed for biliousness and other minor ills when a laxative was needed. I have a tight feeling in my chest when I get bilious. I get dizzy and feel very tired, just don't feel like doing my work. After taking Black-Draught, I feel much better. This is why I continue to use it when needed." Thedford's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, obtainable for 25¢ a package.

Park. They say that his enthusiasm and assistance carried through the project when encouragement was at low ebb. Today the park is a scenic wonder, and fills a sorely felt need to the people of this territory. Mr. Bass says that he has never spent much time for social activities, but instead, he has devoted his time unselfishly in the interest of the city's upbuilding.

Alderman Bass has always been interested in educational matters, and was a strong worker for the athletic field. He promised to aid in the movement. During that time he was working from seventy-five to one hundred relief men on the streets and at the first opportunity, he placed them on the job of building the athletic field, he said. Men like Mr. Bass are strong builders of a town, his admirers point out, and scores of followers have promised his their support for the forthcoming city election.

Mr. Bass is to be commended on his part in supporting the many worthwhile activities of the past year, among which were projects of R. F. C., C. W. A. and P. W. A., and it might be mentioned that city taxes were reduced. The record that this alderman has made is in keeping with a service of unselfish activity, a devotion for city betterment, and at this time, Mr. Bass asks for vote and support of his fellowmen. If re-elected, he promises the same sort of service in the future as he has given in the past.—Contributed.

Truck Accidents Take Big Toll on Texas Highways

In the last four years truck accidents on Texas highways have taken a terrific toll in human life, life, injuries and loss of property.

The Railway and Express Employees Association has just released the figures for the four year period as follows:

1931 there were 201 accidents reported with 349 people killed or injured.

1932 there were 717 truck accidents with 1128 people killed or injured.

In 1933 there were 1487 accidents and 2334 people killed and injured. In 1934 there were 1701 accidents and 2829 people killed and injured.

With the increased allowance of traffic lines on the highways accidents increase. It is said that 76 per cent of the highways are too narrow for the use of vehicles wider than 7 feet.

Other interesting comparative facts are shown: including the advantages required by trucks. Tax payers are having to build roads to accommodate trucks that cost twice as much as roads for passenger cars. The big truck pays one half as much gasoline tax as the family car pays.

Railroads pay $104 in highway taxes for each of the 10,211 trucks operated by their competitors. Railroads pay in taxes 96c for each school child in Texas while the truck competitors pay 23c. The railroads pay $132 to every $1 paid by the trucks for ad valorem taxes.

In Milam county the total motor carrier taxes is $13.37 while the railroads pay into the county treasury $35,187.59. In the state taxes trucks pay a total of $19,759.73 in ad valorem taxes while the railroads pay a grand total of $7,004,139.69.

ONE MAN DIES; ONE BREAKS RECORD

Copenhagen, Denmark.—While ascending in a plane, preparatory to making a parachute leap, Tranum, the man with nine lives, who has defied death dozens of times, became unconscious before he could connect his tube with a reserve tank of oxygen, after his first tank was exhausted and died before the pilot could land the plane.

WIND BLOWS SOME

Owls Head, N. Y.—According to declarations of a skiing party which had returned from the summit of Whiteface Mountain, mile high Adirondack peak, the wind blows so hard that icicles on the observation tower on the top of the mountain were stretched out horizontally before the wind instead of hanging down like normal icicles do.

McGregor Now Bombay, India

Harleigh McGregor, auditor for the Texas Company, is now stationed in Bombay, and began on January 10, 1934 a route in the service of his company that will require three years in many parts of the world.

Cameron people are always interested in the success of native sons. Harleigh, son of Mrs. Gussie McGregor in Cameron, was born in Cameron and one of the number of local boys who have made good in the big world outside.

Mr. McGregor is still in his twenties. He has attained much success in the business world.

After graduating from Cameron high school in 1924, he finished his college education at Geo. Tech in Atlanta. In June he began work for the Texas Co. and has been with them since, and at present is an auditor in foreign fields. After having spent a year in South America, he returned home on a visit with his mother and family spending Christmas of 1933.

He left for a three years' trip on January 10, 1934, and this trip so far has taken him to the West Indies, many parts of South America, from the one extreme part to the other of Africa, also Australia, New Zealand, China, Philippine Islands and perhaps other foreign parts. He hopes to be home again in the latter part of 1936 or early 1937.

Mr. McGregor is still single, and has always kept his mind on his native land and speaks of Cameron as home.

He is a grand son of the late Maj. W. M. McGregor, of Civil war fame, who was spoken of in "Surry of Eagles Nest" by John Esten Cooke as the gallant McGregor. Maj. McGregor for a number of years was one of the leading attorneys of Cameron.

RABBIT HUNT NETS 2,000

Dodge City, Kansas.—In an effort to rid the country of the hordes of crop-eating jackrabbits, farmers in Barton and Stafford counties planned hunts with baseball bats and axe handles. The plan was to round up between 50,000 and 75,000 rabbits, herd them into pens and club them to death. The actual hunt, however, netted only 2,000. Apparently, the rabbits had been put wise and had departed for other regions.

SCHMELING IN FRONT

HAMAS TAKES LICKING

JOE LEWIS, THE NEGRO

OTHER CONTENDERS

CAMPBELL WANTS HIS 300

BASEBALL ODDS AND ENDS

Max Schmelling did his part to clear up the heavy weight situation when he scored a decisive victory over Steve Hamas, former Penn State gridiron star, in their match at Hamburg. The former champion fought a great battle and had the handsome American helpless when the fight was stopped in the ninth round by the Belgian referee. Hamas was knocked down three times in the sixth round, and from then on it was only a question of time, with many spectators asking the officials to stop the fight.

Schmelling trained hard for the match, being anxious to demonstrate that he had come back on the championship trail. He was a different fighter from the man that met Hamas at Philadelphia just after losing his title. Anyway, the German is back in the picture, with his eye on another meeting with the Hollywood idol, Max Baer, now champion of the maulers. Already there is talk about a match in Berlin next July, with the American Jew fighting the German in Mr. Hitler's domain for some hundreds of thousands of dollars of money.

In fact, Joe Jacobs, the Black Uhlan's manager, says the fight was arranged for Long Island City in June if the German won decisively over Hamas. While Long Island is a different place from Berlin, it is quite possible that the yarn is not outside the bounds. Anyway, Schmelling is back as challenger unless some other hopeful comes along to make a powerful appeal to the fans and wins the right to meet Mr. Baer toe to toe.

This brings us to Joe Lewis, the young negro heavyweight, whose business of late has been the knock-out of a number of fighters. Since he left the amateur ranks last July he has walked over the prostrate bodies of perhaps a dozen opponents. The Detroit lad, of course, hasn't been swapping blows with Baers, Schmelling or Carneras, but he has been running up a nice score anyway you look at it. He will probably get a match this summer with the winner of the Carnera-Impellerterre fight unless Schmelling is given one of them as a runner-up to the championship clash that won't be postponed much longer.

Incidentally, the clash of Carnera and Impellerterre brought together the big men of the ring. The Italian giant was considered, one time, a huge warrior, but this man Impellerterre is bigger than the Italian Man Mountain. After the fight last week everybody had an idea about Carnera's claim that he was badly handicapped in his fight with Baer by the broken bone in his foot, although most of them knew all along that where he made his mistake was in letting Max hit him with his fists. Anyway it goes the big Italian had his inning.

Besides the fighters listed, two others are generally considered to be within the realm of possibilities—Art Lasky and James J. Braddock, who will eventually be able to get together and fight it out without having to let the match spoil on account of toothache or a fever. When they do it will be time enough to consider their relative position.

The size-up is this: Max Schmelling is in front by virtue of his decisive triumph over Hamas, and has the inside track because he is a hitter, a type preferred by Baer. Moreover, his astute manager will hardly risk his present build-up against anybody else, realizing that his man has the choice of position and can probably get a bout with Baer by waiting for it even if trouble over location results in a championship bout with some of the other challengers.

Last week Sir Malcolm Campbell spent his fiftieth birthday hoping for a chance to run his giant Bluebird not less than his cherished 300 miles an hour. Already the holder of the world's record he came back to Daytona Beach this spring to achieve this desire. His first test broke the old mark by making 276.816 miles an hour but he wasn't satisfied, and despite advice from friends that he call it a day, declared that he would not be content until he has come closer to the mark he has set.

Box scores began to appear in the newspapers last week as the big league teams started their exhibition games. Stories of this hurler in top form and batter whacking them over the lot trickled to the home towns and made glad the heart of the rabid fan, who is confident that the boys will win the rag this year. It is too early to do more than say that the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Cardinals look good enough to repeat but to add, quickly, that they will have stiff opposition and may find the going too strenuous.

Bits from the playing fields last week included: Detroit Tigers signed Dixie Howell, Alabama's famous football passer, and if the lad can do one-tenth as much with a baseball he will be worth having on any man's team. . . . Mickey Cochrane wanting to know "Who's going to beat us?" . . . Dizzy Dean and Babe

Ruth getting together for a talk, with the loquacious hurler saying he couldn't understand how the American League let the Babe get out of the circuit, and maintaining that "me and Paul" ought to win 40 games. Will Harridge, president of the American League saying that Babe will fill every park in the National League when he swings around the circuit, and averring that "there is, and there ever will be, only one Ruth." . . . Charley Gelbert, staging his comeback fighting it out with Leo Durocher, captain and shortstop of the Cardinals. . . . Wesley Ferrell figuring that he is all set for a good year, with his arm never feeling better. . . . The Chicago Cubs banking on the comeback of Chuck Klein and Freddy Lindstrom and wondering if Manager Charley Grimm is in physical condition to play first base regularly. . . . Joe Cronin saying there will be six clubs in the American League race. . . . Ruth playing first base in exhibition games for the Braves. . . . Hubbell of the Giants, fanning five men in two innings. . . . Grove's arm reported improved, but the opinion expressed that, at 35, Robert Moses will never be the pitcher that he was. . . . Ruffing signing up with the Yankees after a slight quabble. . . .

FASTED 62 DAYS; DIED

Victoria, Texas.—Trying to establish a world's fasting record, Guillermo Guerra, 62, fasted 62 days. He broke his fast with light meals but died three days later.

WON'T CUT WAGES

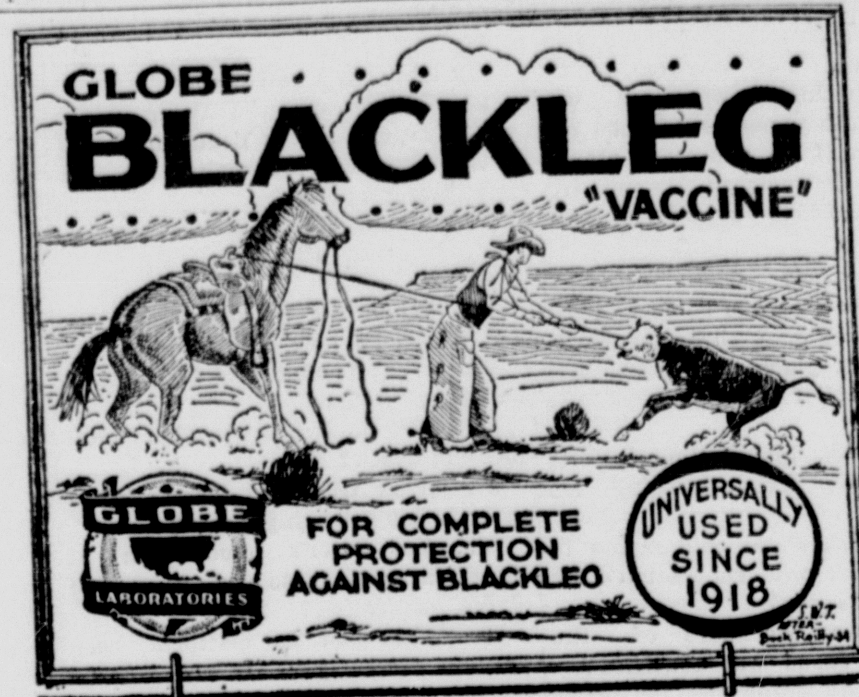

Lawrence, Mass.—Bursting into a "workers" meeting, called by labor executives to discuss a voluntary wage reduction, Nathan Brindis, 45 year old shoe executive, told them he couldn't consider their proposed sacrifice. He said: "The present is no time to cut wages, because of the sharp increase in the cost of living."

MAN FLIES WITH WINGS

Daytona Beach, Fla.—Clem Sohn, a parachute jumper, recently jumped off an airplane 12,000 feet up. He wore wings across his shoulders and attached to his arms and wrists. His legs supported a webbing which when spread, gave him the surface of a birds tail.

He dropped 2,000 feet and then spread out his arms checking his descent. For a while he glided, then he zoomed right and left, shot upward and downward and looped three times. At 6000 feet he pulled the rip cord of his parachute and settled to earth.

THE PEOPLE OF TEXAS Needed it

Yesterday!

YESTERDAY hundreds of Texas communities and thousands of Texas homes had no electric service. They wanted it! They needed it! They needed it then! To have it meant better living in better communities. Better opportunities for people to work under better conditions. Not to have it meant drudgery. Hardships. Lost opportunities!

Twenty-two years ago a group of Texans organized the Texas Power & Light Company to bring transmission line electric service "To Those Who Needed It Most." The very progress of those people . . . Texas people . . . demanded this transmission line electric service.

What more worthy undertaking could challenge the courage of Texans than to supply this need? The challenge was met. The need was supplied by private industry, working for the public good!

THIS foundation for a higher standard of living had to be laid years ago in order that today's benefits could be realized. It was laid. Those communities served by the Texas Power & Light Company today have the fruits of unexcelled transmission line electric service. The cost of electric lighting service to the people has been reduced more than 35% during the past ten years.

This chart shows that electricity is cheaper to our customers today . . . in spite of the fact that the cost of living is rising sharply. This Company will make it still cheaper . . . voluntarily . . . just as rapidly as good business will permit further reductions.

During the past 22 Years we have brought Transmission Line Electric Service to 197 Texas Towns that had No Electric Service Before

Texas Power & Light Company

Behind the scenes with THE TELEPHONE LICENSE CONTRACT

How the staff services we get under it have helped us give good telephone service at fair cost to you.

Last year we spent almost a million dollars to find better methods of giving you good telephone service.

We paid it to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent company of the Bell System. For it we received, as one of the 24 associated companies of that System, the services of A. T. & T.'s great staff of telephone experts and engineers.

Staff Services... at Cost

The A. T. & T. has provided substantially at cost the many services this staff performs. In fact, in the last few years it has taken an actual loss on the work it has done for the operating companies.

The yearly fee we pay is equivalent to about 3/10 of one per cent of our investment in telephone plant. Stated another way . . . less than a cent and a half of every dollar we receive from telephone customers.

Yet without it, telephone service as fast, as clear and as low in cost as you now receive would be quite unlikely.

We have passed on to the telephone user in the Southwest the benefits and savings of this staff work, in the belief that in an undertaking planned for the long run, like the telephone service, such a policy will in the end bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

This show was one of clean, wholesome fun and was very cleverly done.

THE MISDIRECTED NOTE

It was the last period in the afternoon and I was very anxious for the bell to ring. I had sent a note to my best friend across the isle telling her to meet me at our secret place in the woods and we would go swimming. The place near the largest oak tree about one mile into the interior of the woods. On the front of the note I had directed the note to "Mary."

There were two Marys in our class but every one knew which one was my best friend.

I handed the note to a boy sitting directly in front of me and he handed it on.

After school I started for the appointed place. When I reached it I was astonished to see, not my girl friend, but the other Mary. I immediately asked her what she was doing. She said I had told her to come. I explained that I had meant the other Mary and we had a big laugh.

However, we went after my friend and all three went in swimming and had a nice time.

—Grace Dougherty.

OLD FATHER TIME

As I grow older the years seem to rush by more quickly. No longer do the weeks seem like years and days like a century. But still, Time goes on in its old familiar way, never ceasing, always sticking to its job. His footprints in the sands of time are large and impressive, but ever making progress.

Has it ever occurred to you that maybe He would like to rest? He has not failed us yet, but has kept right on, plodding patiently and earnestly advancing toward his goal. Will he ever fail us, thereby stopping the never ending toil of home, country and city life? But no, his job is to serve us until his day of ambitious dreams come true.

Meanwhile I shall make the most of my desires, while the footprints are yet fresh and deep. Father Time and I shall go hand in hand, both advancing toward our goals.

—Dorothy Perkins.

MY UNWELCOME GUEST

I was ready to visit a friend one day, when my spinster aunt walked into the room and said she was here to stay for two or three days.

As my friend who lived in the country was expecting me, I inwardly groaned, but cordially invited my aunt to sit down. I thought of all unwanted people, but I knew there was nothing to do.

For the rest of the day I entertained her and at nightfall a messenger rode up to the door and handed her a telegram which she immediately read aloud. It was a telegram calling her home as her friend was ill, so the day was saved and I happily went on with my plans.

—Douglas Perrin.

One summer in cotton picking time I arrived at my uncle's farm. Going into the house I discovered that I was just in time for breakfast. The breakfast was extra heavy, as you may guess, since the men had an extra hard day ahead of them.

Thinking that picking cotton was very easy I went with the men into the fields. I picked hard all morning although taking a rest frequently. At noon we weighed our cotton and I found that I was entitled only to eleven cents. My uncle, feeling sorry for me because I worked very hard, gave me fifty cents and pretended that I had earned it.

We went back to the house for our dinner. It tasted extremely good after our hard work.

Obtaining permission to go to town I left the farm. It was a short walk although it seemed very long to me. In town I purchased a box of cartridges for my gun, two bars of candy and a bottle of soda water.

Returning to the farm, I asked Bob, a friend of mine, to go hunting with me. My friend shot two squirrels, a rabbit, a few quails and a snake. I hit two dead stumps, two bois d'arc apples, and stepped on the snake that Bob killed. I killed three rabbits, a squirrel and two of my uncle's turkeys. Having done this I went back to the house.

It being late in the evening and having killed two of my uncle's prize turkeys, I thought it best that I go home.

INTRODUCING New Herald READERS

Hundreds Subscribe in Big Trend to Pioneer Journal

Mrs. T. E. Cotham of San Antonio is a new reader of the Herald for 1935, her name having been placed on the list this week by her sister, Mrs. L. Turner in Cameron. Mrs. Cotham was reared in Cameron, her mother, Mrs. Laura Cone, deceased, being one of the early pioneers of the city. Mrs. Cotham as a former resident here, will find many things of interest in the Herald in 1935 and the publishers are glad to have her among the many new readers this week.

Chas. Smith, Jr., now attending the University of Texas taking a pre-medical course, will read the Herald for the coming year. He is the son of Mayor and Mrs. Chas. C. Smith of Cameron and was born and reared in this city. His many friends will be glad to know of his work at State. He will read with interest each week the happenings in the old home town.

Mrs. Lee Batte is among the many new Cameron readers of the Herald this week, her name having been added to receive the current issue of the paper. Mrs. Batte has more than a reader interest in the Herald. Her father, the late Oscar McNally was for many years publisher of the Herald and served this county in the Legislature of Texas.

J. A. Ely of Gause, former Justice of Peace for Precinct No. 3, is a new reader of the Herald. Judge Ely was a business visitor in the city last week and became a reader of this newspaper. He owns large farm interests and is in many ways identified with the business life of the Gause community.

Joseph S. Schiller, Burlington, has been a reader of the Herald for many years and his approval of its worth as a newspaper is attested by his subscription renewal to 1940. On last Saturday he visited the offices of the publisher and gave his renewal and at the same time placed the name of his brother, L. S. Schiller at Waco on the list. Both have lived in this county for a long time. They are natives of Washington county. Mr. Schiller is interested in the proposed Brazos project but believes the waters can be harnessed by co-operative effort instead of acquiring a large government loan. He has watched with interest for years the Bosque lake at Waco and believes that it holds many dangers for the city of Waco should it at any time break through its harness of concrete and steel. It is always a pleasure to have Mr. Schiller call and discuss the problems and events of the day.

N. M. Elliott is among the many new readers this week on R. 1 out of Cameron, his name having been added this week for the first time. Mr. Elliott will find many things of news interest in the greatly enlarged and improved Herald this year and the publishers are happy to number him among the many new readers.

Miss Imogene House for many years a reader of the Herald is among the old subscribers to renew for another year and the publishers are happy to number her again among the many readers in the Salem community.

P. B. Shorpe who lives on route 4 out of Cameron has become a reader of the Herald for the coming year and the publishers are happy to number him among the many new readers. He will receive his first issue of the paper this week and the management trusts he may find many things of interest in these columns in the coming months.

E. F. Stratton of Buckholts Route 1 is among the many old readers to renew again for this year. Mr. Stratton has been a reader for a number of years and is an old friend of this paper which the publishers hope will bring to him and his fine family this year many things of great interest.

Erskine McDermott an old reader from the Marlow community is among the large number to renew again for next year. Of interest to farmers this week will be the advertising of Mr. McDermott who has Lankert cotton seed for sale. This popular variety of cotton has found great favor with the farmers in this section. Mr. McDermott is one of the leading young farmers of this section. The publishers thank him for his continued reader support.

L. J. Werner of the Werner Bros. grocery in Cameron, is among the many old readers to renew again for another year. He has been a reader for a number of years and the publishers are happy to acknowledge his reader support. He is associated with his brother in the grocery business here at the old J. D. Dobbins stand. Leo goes each year to Old Mexico for a vacation trip and finds fishing good there. It will be only a few weeks now until he gets out the old tackle box and hunts up his road map for the delightful journey beyond the Rio Grande.

John W. Haygood, agent for the Railway Express Company, is a new reader of the Herald, his name being added to the list of many new Cameron subscribers this week. Mr. Haygood last week held a meeting with railway and express company officials in Cameron. He has been agent here for a number of years and has the support and good will of the business in Cameron. He is an active member of San Andres Lodge A. F. & A. M. and is District Deputy Grand Master, succeeding the late Mr. Ireland in this place. Mr. Haygood is president of the Parents Band Association and his son John Calvin Haygood, is band major, leading the Yoe-men musicians in all the late fall tours.

The publishers are glad to have as a new reader this week, Will Lake who lives in the Marlow community on Route 4 out of Cameron. Mr. Lake was born and reared in this county, in fact only a few miles from Cameron. He has seen many interesting changes although still a young man. The Marlow community is one of the oldest settled sections of the county. Among the interesting places is the old cemetery where many pioneers sleep. The first burial was that of a cowboy who died while working for one of the pioneers. His body is in a small enclosure in the field adjoining the cemetery proper. Mr. Lake will find many things of interest in the Herald this year and the publishers are happy to add him to the big family of readers on Route 4.

Frank Zalkosky who lives on his farm in the Milano section, is an old reader who appreciates the Herald and has renewed again for 1935. He was a business visitor in this city last week and advanced the reading date on his paper. He believes the Bankhead cotton law has worked a hardship on small farmers and that the two bale exemption proposed does not affect many farmers and that if an exemption is to be made it should be made to include farmers who produce around 5 to six bales. He reads much and keeps informed of developments.

Miss Effie Thomas of Cleveland, Texas, who has been a reader of the Herald for years, is among the out of county readers to renew this week. Miss Thomas has many friends in Cameron and will read the Herald with much interest in the coming year.

Raby Hill is a new reader of the Herald his name having been added to the list this week. Mr. Hill operates the Newport Cafe, having recently purchased the business from D. Fikes. He has made many improvements in the business and enjoys a good patronage. The publishers are glad to have his name among the many new Cameron readers this week and trust he may find many things of interest in these columns in the coming year.

Lloyd Ferguson of Milano is a new Herald reader this week, having received his first copy of this publication last week and his name arriving too late to be introduced along with other new readers. Mr. Ferguson has been a resident of that section for a number of years and the publishers are glad to number him among the many new readers in the Milano section, and trust he may find many things of interest in this newspaper this year.

Louis Gerick of East Benard sends greetings to his old friends in Milam county and says he is enjoying life and likes the country there. He reads the Herald and is among the many old readers to renew again this week. Mr. Gerick moved to East Benard some time ago and has found a new home in that section far away from his native county of Milam. His many friends will be glad to have this word from him and the publishers are glad to have his continued reader support.

Allen Dodson with the Grabein Chevrolet Company in Cameron is a new reader of the Herald. His name was added to the growing list of new Cameron readers last week. Mr. Dodson has the thanks of the publishers for his reader support of the Herald and the publishers trust he may find many things of interest in these columns this year. He is a member of a prominent family in this county and occupies a responsible position with the local Chevrolet agency.

Resolutions

Whereas, in the wisdom of our Heavenly Father, He has taken from our midst a worthy and able official of our city, Mr. J. C. Joseph, and;

Whereas, in his untimely going, a feeling of sorrow has come to all of us, and;

Whereas, we feel the loss of his careful actions in all deliberations for the common good, his sanguine and cheerful disposition and his spirit of tolerance and kindness, do hereby resolve;

First—that in his passing the city has lost one of its outstanding citizens, a man who ably served as an Alderman also Secretary and Treasurer of Cameron, having always in mind the higher ideals of life.

Second—that we desire to extend to his relatives the sympathy of an appreciative city for his services, and;

Third—that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his relatives, a copy to the local newspapers for publication and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the City of Cameron, Texas.
